Current Comment

"A man's home is his castle," says an ancient saw, and it has always been my belief that a man is entitled to repel all intruders thereto. If Julian H. Alco has his way with us we can still prevent the entry of criminally-minded guests if we don't mind routing them with a paring knife from the kitchen. For Mr. Alco proposes to disarm the honest man in the fond belief that the criminal will also recognize his anti-gun laws and be among the first to surrender his weapons.

By the same token, if you and your family should happen to break down on a lonely road in the wee small hours, it is your privilege to beat off molestation—if you don't mind going up against an armed thug with nothing but a jack handle for protection.

No more will the small town merchant or householder or banker get much of a response when he sends out a general call for help—such as was met with alacrity in the case of a local bank robbery not so many years ago—because no private citizen is going to the aid of another when unarmed.

If you happen in on a gang of thugs, armed to t he teeth with "illegal" pistols and "Tommy" guns, in the act of kidnapping your favorite offspring, you can rush to the bureau drawer where you used to keep your pistol, seize a heavy slipper and rout the mobsters.

In San Jose yesterday Mr. Alco sought to beat down resistance offered his measure by members of the San Jose Rifle club with the quotation of what at first glance appear to be very damaging figures. An annual average of 9,000 murders are committed in this country with pistols, he said. How many of these exterminations were acts of mobsters who would possess pistols regardless of anti-gun laws he did not say, satisfying himself with the statement that many of them were the acts of normally law-abiding citizens who killed in a fit of rage. A pretty sour argument, ladies and gentlemen. Especially in a state which seems to indicate a preference for hatchets and two-foot lengths of gas pipe when it has any "murders of passion" to take care of. Eight thousand suicides by pistols in the United States annually is another of Alco's arguments that doesn't draw a great deal of water. If a person is bent on taking his or her own life the mere absence of a pistol won't deter them over-much. There is always gas, carbon monoxide, grandpa's shotgun, cyanide sandwiches—and a couple of dynamite caps held between the teeth and tapped gently with a hammer is always effective. Of the 3,000 who are killed by "pistol accidents," it is my belief that a good many of these could safely be placed in the suicide column.

If Mr. Alco would discourage the use of pistols in crime let him work for a law that would double the ordinary penalty. In other words, if a robbery with a blackjack, gas pipe, or whatnot drew a ten-year sentence, make the penalty 20 years in case a pistol was wielded by the robber who, regardless of any law whatsoever, WILL POSSESS AND USE A PISTOL IF HE WANTS TO DO SO.

The Alco anti-gun law also seeks to dispossess thousands of men and women to whom their Sunday pistol shooting at their chosen range is the same as is golf to the maniacs of the fairway. You might just as well propose legislation that would deprive the golfer of his clubs as that which will take the weapons from the hands of the hordes who shoot for sport.

C. MIRACLE INJURED AT LAKE TAHOE

On Saturday C. B. Miracle who, with Mrs. Miracle, is spending the summer at their place at Tahoe, sustained injuries which proved very serious. He was hauling a load of poles loaded crosswise on a light truck. Passing close to a tree at the side of the road, the tree caught the projecting end of a heavy pole and swung it violently against the back of the driver's head, knocking him unconscious.

The car ran wild, finally careening into a telephone pole where the shattered windshield inflicted a severe scalp wound. Unable to move the injured man, medical assistance was brought to him at the Miracle lake cottage where, according to information received by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Putnam, Mr. Miracle will be confined for at least a month.

Roy Archibald Hurt In Wreck

Roy Archibald, manager of the local branch of the American Trust company, Saturday night sustained severe injuries to his right hand when the automobile he was driving overturned on a curve three miles this side of Plymouth on the Tahoe road.

Accompanied by his son Winfield, Mr. Archibald was headed for a week-end vacation at the lake when the accident occurred. In applying brakes for the curve the car swerved onto the shoulder, the right front wheel falling into a narrow gully from which it could not be turned—the inevitable upset resulting. Winfield, who was uninjured, aided his father in extricating himself from the wreck and applied a tourniquet to the wound.

First aid was rendered at Plymouth, whence they proceeded to a Sacramento hospital where a thorough job was done on the several cut tendons in Mr. Archibald's hand. The vacation was abandoned, father and son returning to Campbell the following day.

Miss Thelma Brooks went to Auberry, Calif., Thursday, where she has secured a position nursing in the Wishiah preventorium.

MUSIC DEPT AT C. U. G. SCHOOL GETS BIG PLAY

As the paper goes to press a final report from Principal Ira Abbott indicates an enrollment to date of 710 pupils in the elementary school, with about 25 or 30 yet to be heard from. These figures correspond almost exactly with those of last year, according to Mr. Abbott.

Tremendous interest is being shown in music this year. Seventy-five youngsters have signed up for orchestra, an increase of 15 over last year's large class of 60. The school's very able director of music, A. A. Thielke, reports that he anticipates no difficulty in taking care of so many young musicians ,and his report is a repetition of that coming from the entire staff of fine teachers.

Enrollment at the high school, which was open Monday and Tuesday for freshman registration, shows a net total of 80, with more to come. Upper classmen will register the last of the week, with classes taking up Monday.

NEW BEAUTY SHOP OPENS

Arlene McCord, formerly of Dinuba, Calif., who has been living in Campbell this summer, arrived at the conclusion that this would be a good place to practice her profession as a beauty operator. This week C. T. Fawcett and William Copeland have been busy fixing up the Whitman house at 20 North Central avenue so that the front rooms can be used as a beauty shop.

Miss McCord has installed some very fine equipment, including a Duart permanent waving machine, and is now prepared to serve the ladies of the community. Regular hours will be observed, and work will be done by appointment. A telephone is being installed today, and the number will be available at the local exchange.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Any attempt to make fundamental changes in the tax system inevitably and invariably brings conflict, for taxation is the one function of government which strikes home with every citizen.

And the syncrotax amendment, which will be submitted to California voters at the general election on Nov. 6—the most radical and far-reaching tax revision proposal in the state's history—has quite naturally stirred up a veritable hornet's nest of opposition.

Revolutionary in scope—casting the present tax structure entirely into the discard and overthrowing principles of taxation which are as old as the country itself—the syncrotax, with its provision for a gross transactions tax in lieu of all other levies, is typical of the general upheaval in governmental theories which has characterized the depression and post-depression period. It typifies, also, the present trend toward panaceas—the search for a completely new order, rather than correctives. In brief, government, like the individual, is, in many cases looking toward "greener pastures," or at least pastures which seem greener at long range.

But without passing judgment on the merits or demerits of the new and sweeping tax amendment, it may safely be predicted that the syncrotax will run up against bitter and widespread opposition.

Analyzing the opposition, syncrotax will be opposed by the great majority of California wholesalers, as well as manufacturers, on the score that it places California business at a disadvantage with outside business—taxing California-made and California distributed commodities on each turnover, while interstate commerce will be exempt from the tax under federal statutes.

Many retailers, likewise, will oppose the tax on the ground that it taxes losses as well as profits—the levy being against gross receipts, without regard to net income. The theory of this opposition is that the wealthy man, with small turn-over, will escape with a comparatively light tax, while the merchant with a big turn-over, but forced to content himself with a small margin on each sale, will be hard hit.

California school teachers, also, may be expected to take up the battle against the amendment, as it wipes out the present "priority of school apportionment," placing the schools in a position where they would be forced to fight for appropriations each year, rather than be guaranteed support on the per-pupil, per-teacher basis.

And equally vigorous opposition—some justified, perhaps, and the other perhaps unjustified—will come from churches, veterans, charitable organizations, orphanages, museums and like groups now enjoying tax exemptions, but which would be taxed at the full rate under syncrotax.

Again, municipally-owned public utilities, which have always opposed attempts to tax their properties, will probably fight syncrotax, for it provides that the properties of "political subdivisions," when operated commercially or as "proprietary enterprises," shall be taxable.

Although the attitude of organized labor is as yet unknown, it is probable that labor will oppose the syncrotax as "a tax on poverty"—the same charge which labor has lodged against the sales tax.

The attitude of California farm organizations, for the most part, is yet undetermined. While the syncrotax will materially reduce the tax on land and homes, an important factor to the farmer, it is equally true that it will place a tax on each turnover—and each processing—of the farmer's products.

Viewed dispassionately and without prejudice, the syncrotax requires the most careful and thorough-going analysis before the voters will be in a position to render an intelligent verdict. The most important measure on the November ballot, it should be investigated and tested by every tax-paying group, both in the interest of tax justice and as a protection against hurried and ill-considered action.

Cutting Brothers Visit Yosemite

The five Cutting brothers, Will, Frank, Carl, Theodore and James spent the past week together at Lake Tenaya in upper Yosemite park. They were accompanied by as many of their respective families as could leave their work. Mrs. Frank Cutting, son Teddy, Mrs. Theodore Cutting, and Arthur and Barbara Cutting were the others who made up the party of ten.

Will fried the pancakes every morning, Frank painted several views of lakes and mountains, Carl supplied the table with fish, Theodore collected crystals from the granite veins, and James took still and moving pictures of both the wild and tame animals of the vicinity. The other members of the party hunted Indian arrow heads and took hikes on the trails.

Every evening there was a camp fire with reminiscences, games and tales. Monday camp was broken, some coming straight home, some descending into the valley for a few more days in the Sierras.

YOU KNOW ME, AL — Keefe Wants To Warn Him — By RING LARDNER

Friend Al,

Well, Edna has been talking over a lot of ideas lately about the winter, but all of them is about me going to work in a bank or something while she spends the jack which ain't no change in the old system. Now she's got a big idea about inviting her sister Cora to visit us and I am to ask Kid Dugan to come to stay with us at the same time, and the plan is for us to sneak out and leave the two of them together so they'll make a match which I don't see how we're going to make any jack out of it, and we'll only have to feed the two of them while they hang around, and I don't figure this Kid Dugan as a very fast worker outside the ring. We'll probably feed him for two or three weeks and then he'll marry Hazel Black because he's always been stuck on her and anyway I ain't no marriage broker.

Your friend,

Jack Keefe.

JACK, I WANT TO INVITE MY SISTER, CORA TO VISIT US
SHE'S A PRETTY BIG FEEDER, AND THEY DON'T GIVE AWAY FOOD AROUND HERE
WHY DON'T YOU ASK KID DUGAN AT THE SAME TIME, AND THEY MIGHT HIT OFF A MATCH
IF THEY DID YOUR FAMILY WOULD CERTAINLY PICK HIS BANKROLL CLEAN
HE'S A FRIEND OF MINE, AND I AIN'T GOING TO STAND BY AND SEE HIM MARRY INTO YOUR FAMILY WITHOUT WARNING HIM
IT WOULD BE THE BEST THING THAT EVER HAPPENED TO HIM. CORA WOULD MAKE HIM A GOOD WIFE
WELL, I SUPPOSE HE'S GOT TO TAKE ONE ON THE CHIN SOME DAY, SO IT MIGHT AS WELL BE NOW

The Revival of Fall Entertaining

DURING THE summer months the gay whirl of entertaining always seems to be a bit slack. Friends leave town for the holidays and others seek the seclusion and comfort of the cool places in their homes. All the pattern of social activity is broken. But with the cool weather of September, people emerge fresh, rested and ready for a particularly lively season of entertaining. Bridge friends meet in eager haste to talk over the summer days, and clubs plunge enthusiastically into a new season of activity. These gay reunions of old friends deserve particularly attractive menus that will draw exclamations of pleased surprise from the guests. The following menus for afternoon or evening parties or fall luncheons will offer many helpful suggestions to the September hostess.

Chicken Sandwich Rolls* Hot Potato Chips
Preserved Sweet Gherkins Spanish Queen Olives
Mixed Vegetable Salad Mold*
Orange Cream Cake Coffee

Creamed Veal and Olives served in Pastry Shells*
Sweet Mixed Pickles
Buttered New Corn Hot Buttered Rolls
Bunch of Grapes Salad*
Jelly Jumbles* Coffee

(*) Indicates recipes given below.

Chicken Sandwich Rolls—To 2 cups cold, cubed cooked chicken, add 1½ cups diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 diced hard cooked eggs, saving several well formed slices for garnishing. Moisten with Mayonnaise. Cut bread lengthwise of the loaf, having it about ¼ inch thick. Trim the crusts and place the slices of bread in a damp linen cloth so they will roll easily; allow to stand at least half an hour before rolling them. Spread each slice of bread with a layer of the chicken salad and roll firmly. Garnish with slices of hard cooked egg and of Stuffed Spanish Olives.

Mixed Vegetable Salad Mold—Soak 1½ tablespoons plain gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes, and dissolve in ½ cup boiling water. Add 3 tablespoons Pure Vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. When this mixture begins to thicken, add 1 cup diced cucumbers, 1 cup thinly sliced radishes and 1 cup chopped cabbage. Pour into a large mold or into small individual molds to chill. Unmold in nests of crisp lettuce on a large platter. Garnish with Mayonnaise.

Creamed Veal and Olives in Pastry Shells—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and stir together until well blended. Add 1½ cups milk and cook until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt, few drops Worcestershire Sauce, a dash of pepper, 1½ cups diced cooked veal and ¼ cup sliced Stuffed Spanish Olives, and heat thoroughly in the sauce. Serve in pastry shells or on buttered toast.

Bunch of Grapes Salad—Drain 6 halves of canned pears thoroughly by placing in a tea towel. Frost the rounded sides with a thin layer of cream cheese. Cover with halves of green or red grapes, from which seeds have been removed (¼ lb. cream cheese and ½ lb. grapes will be needed). Insert, to represent stem, a parsley stem from which leaves have been removed. Combine ½ cup Mayonnaise with ¼ cup chopped nutmeats and place a spoonful of this mixture in individual nests of lettuce. Cover with the decorated pears.

Jelly Jumbles—Cream ½ cup butter thoroughly, add 1 cup sugar, and cream until fluffy. Add 2 egg whites, unbeaten, and continue creaming. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and a small amount of red vegetable coloring to make the dough pink. Add 3 to 4 tablespoons cream, and 2½ cups flour, which has been sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder. Roll the dough to about ⅛ inch in thickness, and cut with a cooky cutter of any desired shape. On the center of one cooky, place a spoonful of Currant Jelly. In another cooky of the same shape, cut two or more small circles, using a thimble. Place the cut cooky over the one with the Jelly, press edges firmly together, sprinkle with granulated sugar and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Kiwanis Notes

Prof. Ambrose Nichols of the San Jose Technical high school gave a very interesting talk on vocational guidance at Kiwanis luncheon yesterday. His great personal experience with boys along this line affords a fund of stories of which he related several.

Mr. Nichols advises a moderate method of suggestion and advise to youth rather than orders and direction. In this manner the boys or girls are given opportunity to think for themselves.

Jack Murdock acted as chairman.

Next Tuesday, falling in "Constitution" week, Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie of San Jose State college, will deliver the address. Ira Abbott will be chairman. Ladies' night will also prove a drawing card.

Saturday, Sept. 22, the division meeting will be held at Monterey at 6:30 and a delegation is planning to attend from this club.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Parso have returned from a four-day visit at the state fair and with friends at Davis and Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Farnham and family returned last week from an extended visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Emmerick of Eugene, Ore.

Mrs. Rose Hanger spent last week with friends at her cottage in Seabright.

Perley Payne Escapes Injury

Perley Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Payne of Harrison avenue, escaped without injury when the car he was driving overturned at Winchester and Williams roads.

The accident occurred when Perley tried to avoid a car stalled crosswise in the middle of the road. The Filipino owner of the car was trying desperately to crank it when Payne's car struck the front wheel and turned over. The top of his car was badly damaged.

C. SPALDING IN MESSAGE TO VOTERS

To the thousands of voters and friends who loyally and generously supported me in the primary election for coroner and public administrator, I wish to express my deep gratitude and sincere thanks. The contention that a public office should not be made a private enterprise has been proven, and I respectfully ask your continued support.

On Saturday afternoon, Sept. 1, Miss Helen L. Lloyd, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Lloyd of Winchester road, became the bride of Clarence E. Hoehn, son of Mrs. Mary Hoehn of Sunnyvale. The ceremony was conducted in the garden of the William N. Lloyd home on Hamilton avenue, where relatives and close friends heard the bride's father read the impressive Methodist Episcopal service.

The rites were preceded by three solos, "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning," and "Bide Me to Live," sung by Mrs. H. A. Chapin of San Jose. The bride was given away by her brother, Ernest Lloyd of Palo Alto. Beautifully gowned and carrying a pink garden hat filled with pink and white tuberous begonias, the bride was accompanied by her two litle nieces, Geraldine and Roberta Lloyd who, as flower girls, wore green frocks with pink sashes.

Autoists "Jacked Up" On Clearance

Sacramento, Sept. 12—The new state law requiring motorists to secure tax clearances from their local city and county assessors before applying for transfers or registration apparently has made little impression on Californians.

Despite the fact that the law became effective last March, Russell Bevans, registrar of the department of motor vehicles, reported today that more than half the applications received for transfers lack the necessary tax clearances.

Bevans said the department received an average of 600 transfer applications daily. One half of these, or 300, do not have the clearances of the assessors stamped on the back of the registration certificate as required by law.

In view of this apparent indifference on the part of motor vehicle owners Bevans anticipates a great deal of trouble when the annual renewal period starts Jan. 1.

When applications for transfer or registration are received without the clearances showing the tax has been paid the department has only one alternative and that is to send them back to the owner with the request that the clearances be made.

The purpose of the law is to prevent evasion of taxes on motor vehicles.

Bevans warned motor vehicle owners to secure the necessary clearances at once in order to avoid trouble and delay when new license plates are sought next year.
